Interpretation and limitations

Automated evidence is not a WCAG conformance claim. Results identify machine-detectable risks across the captured viewports. Manual expert testing remains required for conformance evaluation.

Template families

Deterministic structural groups used for representative-page scoping.

Public demonstration

All four declared Citylights demonstration pages are included. This is a bounded example, not a crawl of w3c.org.

Captured from W3C's published 2012 demonstration archive. Styles and images were embedded locally; source scripts were removed. Axe checked the initial page at desktop and mobile widths. Screenshots show the viewport, not the full page. Forms and dynamic flows were not tested.
